

ABSTRACT

A defouling system for pleasure yachts and the like. An oxygen-depleting gas is bubbled into the water in close proximity to the hull. Various barriers in the water can be positioned to reduce diffusion of oxygen to the hull surface.